

Aerospace Medical News

Publications Committee Activity

DR. CORTEZ ENLOE

Our President, Dr. George Kidera, announced in the December issue the creation of a Publications Committee with Dr. Cortez Enloe as Chairman. Dr. Kidera has extended invitations to members of the Association to serve on this committee. As this project is of great importance to the continued growth and success of the journal, he urges the members of this committee to participate actively in helping to accomplish its objectives of obtaining revenue for the journal through ethical advertising.

Membership Survey

Dr. Enloe announces that the first major activity of the Publications Committee will be a survey of the readers. See special insert announcement between pages 44 and 45 of this issue. The more we know about our reader audience and their professional activities, the greater will be the success of the committee activities. It is with this thought in mind that the survey is being made.

Your cooperation will help make AEROSPACE MEDICINE even more interesting and valuable to you. In addition, organizations using the journal are vitally interested in a good picture of our reading audience. Such information can provide a logical basis for their selection of AEROSPACE MEDICINE as a medium for presenting their message.

The survey questionnaire will be sent to you by mail within the next ten days. Your prompt attention to this matter is required so that the results may be put to use as soon as possible. Take a look at the special insert right now, and post your secretary to look for the questionnaire in the mails.

Awarded Legion of Merit

COL. J. B. NUTTALL, Director of Professional Services, Office of the Surgeon General, USAF, from July 15, 1956 to July 31, 1960.

Colonel Nuttall is a native of Schley, Virginia. He received his B.S. and M.D. degrees from the University of Maryland, Baltimore, Maryland. He holds the Commendation Ribbon, USAF Certificate of Achievement in Aviation Medicine, the Bronze Star Medal, the Air Medal with 4 Oak Leaf clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Colonel JAMES B. NUTTALL, USAF, MC, presently in graduate training in Public Health at Johns Hopkins University, was awarded the Legion of Merit recently in a ceremony held in Washington, D. C. He was cited for his exceptionally meritorious service as Chief, Aviation Medicine Division and Deputy Di-

Aerospace Medicine Expands

You will notice that the Departments and Abstracts of Current Literature in Aerospace Medicine in this issue have been set in a new type! This is another part of the over-all program to improve the journal. This new typographic dress will provide an equivalent of 20 per cent more space for text material. Since the scientific articles for this issue were already set in advance in our former type, it was not financially feasible to make the entire change at once. The complete change-over will begin with the February issue.

Another phase of the journal expansion program is reported by Dr. Kidera in his President's page this issue—a special committee to study proposals for increasing the size of the journal and institute new sections or departments.